COAL STRIKE BRINGS "DIM-OUT"

New Subsidies Will Not Help Dairy Shortages

New milk subsidies announced this week by Chester Bowles, Director of Economic Stabilization, will do more harm than good according to Raymond Skinner, of Memphis, Tennessee, President of the International Ass'n. of Milk Dealers, in a statement approved at a meeting in Chicago recently of the directors of the organization.

"Chester Bowles' announcement of new milk subsidies and restoration of orders limiting sales of certain dairy products at a time when it was hoped subsidies would soon be ended is shocking to an industry trying to overcome shortages that endanger consumer supplies. Bowles ignored the House of Representatives Special Food Shortage Committee findings.

"More subsidies from government funds only conceal price increases and do more harm than good in the long run. The milk industry is put in a false position with consumers, as actually the price of milk has been one to two cents a quart higher than consumers pay.

"Further, increasing subsidies as Mr. Bowles announced is a political sop to pressure groups. When subsidies end, as they must, consumers will not end, as they must, consumers will not be prepared for price changes that result.

"Mr. Bowles' action will create more black markets and will not overcome shortages. His promise of more butter in the retail stores through a system of wartime controls in peacetime will prove to be what it is—a political mirage. It will create misunderstandings between consumers and the industry delaying restoration of normal supply and demand."

Two Legion Groups Will Sponsor Dance Saturday, May 18

Drum and Bugle Corps and Athletic Club to Cooperate

Plans for a "May Dance" to be sponsored jointly by the American Legion athletic association and the Drum and Bugle corps are being formulated this week. The affair will take place on Saturday, May 18, at the Legion Hall.

The athletic association has maintained the Legion basketball team during the winter months and is now preparing to put two softball teams in competition. An organization meeting for the baseball teams was held last night.

The Drum and Bugle corps, which is co-sponsoring the dance, is an outgrowth of the Sons of the Legion corps which was organized and directed by Otto S. Klass for several years prior to the war. The new corps which is currently being groomed for a first appearance on Memorial Day, May 30th, is composed of some of the members of the original group, along with a good many of the World War II veterans who have become members of the post. Klass said that he hoped the corps could be outfitted in new uniforms some time during the month. Membership in the organization is about twenty-one, he added.

Since both these organizations are well worthy of public support, it is believed that the dance will be amply supported by residents of the vicinity and that enough money can be realized to adequately carry out the work of both organizations.

Ed Knickelbein, who has operated the popular resort for more than fifteen years, said today that he had transferred the property to the new owners on April 1, and that the new managers would continue with about the same set-up as before with the difference that more emphasis would be placed on the serving of food.

The new owners extend a cordial invitation to all residents of the Lake region to be present at the grand opening.

A letter, received this week by Kufalk, is reproduced below:

Roy I. Kufalk, Antioch, Ill.

Dear Roy:

This amount was only the funds raised by direct solicitation and does not include the moneys raised by theatres, as this money is sent direct to the National foundation and the county chapters are reimbursed after the returns are all in.

Fred Peterson Warns Against Use of Firearms in the Village

Village Marshal Fred Peterson issued a warning this week that all violators of the village ordinance which prohibits the use of firearms in the village will be prosecuted. Peterson said that youngsters were responsible for most of the many complaints he has had about the firing of guns in the village, and he asked that all parents of children who have guns see that they are properly used.

He also said that a good many persons out around the lakes have been careless in the use of guns and that steps to put a stop to the shooting in the village would be taken immediately.

PUBLIC SERVICE MEN PROMOTED

In a double promotion announced today by the Public Service Company of Northern Illinois, George S. Bartlett was named assistant to vice-president in charge of electric stations and substations and E. D. Sheehan was named northern division vice-president to succeed Bartlett.

Both promotions are effective immediately.

Bartlett, who has been with the company for 27 years, has served in the utility's northern division since 1926, first as operating superintendent and for the past year and a half as division vice-president. His new headquarters will be in the company's general offices in Chicago.

Sheehan, who returned to the company, last week after three years of war service as Lt. Commander in the navy, was formerly assistant to the southern division vice-president at Joliet. He has been with the utility since 1925. His new headquarters will be at Northbrook.

"Christopher Bean," Senior Class Play, Set for May 9-10

The Senior class of Antioch township high school will present the annual senior play, at the high school auditorium on Thursday and Friday evenings, May 9th and 10th. The class has chosen to present "The Late Christopher Bean," a comedy.

A brief resume of the play, written by a member of the cast follows:

"A painter named Christopher Bean had died in a New England village leaving only a few dirty canvases to pay the doctor for his efforts to heal. It was a mild surprise to Doctor Haggett and his family when an old friend of Bean's dropped in and paid Bean's old bill, and only took away a couple of pictures as mementoes. It was a bigger surprise when another old friend of Bean's turned up on a similar errand, and the biggest of all when a great New York art critic arrived to pay his respects to the memory of the dead artist. It was overwhelming when they learned that Christopher's debts were worth a fortune—and how they hurried to find them. There was one in the chicken coop and the daughter of the house had painted some flowers on the back of another, and Abby, the servant girl, had a portrait of herself in her room. A mad scramble ensued with Abby in the thick of it. And always in the scramble, the effect on the characters of those involved is uppermost, always there is the flurry and distress of minds under the turmoil of action; always though it is the lovable simplicity of Abby, to whom Christopher was an unmercenary memory of distant happiness."

"The Late Christopher Bean," written by Mr. Sidney Howard, takes place in New England. The unfolding is odd, amusing, hilarious, and beneath it all we catch the deep abiding love of Abby for her departed lover."

Auxiliary Hears Talk on Panama At Friday Meeting

Legion Auxiliary members enjoyed a talk on Panama and the Good Neighbor Policy, initiation of five candidates, and cards at a regular meeting held last Friday evening at the Legion hall.

Mrs. George Garland presented the interesting talk on "Panama, Cross-Roads of the World." She described the tropical climate and lush vegetation of Panama as well as giving a general outline of industries there, and gave an interesting word picture of the Panama Canal.

After initiation of the new members cards were played and refreshments served.

Gold Star Mothers will be honored guests at the May 10 meeting of the Auxiliary.

Where Is Our Butter

Many of us would be astonished to be told that we've already had our butter. Yet that would come very close to being the correct answer.

True we haven't had it as butter. But we have had the butter, in the form of increased amounts of milk, and other of its products.

Last year the American people consumed about 16 billion pounds more milk as fluid milk and cream than the average for the years 1935 to 1939. That amount of milk would make almost six pounds of butter apiece for every man, woman, and child in the United States, and still leave as much milk and cream as was had in the years 1935 to 1939.

Besides this 13 billion pounds more milk was made into cheese, dry-whole-milk, evaporated milk, and ice cream, than in those pre-war years. That amount of milk accounts for almost another 5 pounds of butter per person. In the case of these concentrated milk products, it is only fair to point out that most of the extra production was shipped overseas for American armies, and for relief.

The important point, is that, Americans are eating better. Those improved diets call for much greater quantities of dairy products. While American dairymen are producing at an all time high, they haven't been able to keep pace with the demand, and until production and economic conditions are such, that they can catch-up with this demand, consumers must realize that they can't drink their butter, and spread it on their bread too.

Teachers to Attend Audio-Visual Meet At Waukegan Friday

Open season on black bass for the northern zone of Illinois officially closed Apr. 30th at midnight. Much comment among sportsmen of the region has been heard relative to the bass season here, and many have commented on the fact that early spring weather often cause the fish to spawn earlier than April 30, and that catches of bass during the spring are full of spawn.

Ill. Commerce Comm. Orders Cut in Use of Electric Power

Public Service Company May Cease Generating Power May 21

Antioch and Lake county electricity users face a complete shut-down of electric power about May 21, unless coal with which to operate the Public Service company generating plants is forthcoming within the next two weeks, according to an announcement made today by officials of the company.

In an effort to prolong the supply of electricity for public health and safety needs and the protection of property, the Illinois Commerce Commission today issued an order calling for drastic reductions in the use of electricity throughout most of the state.

The order, necessitated by the dwindling supplies of coal available for power generation, is effective immediately and calls for curtailment of electricity:

"(a) For all such purposes as decorative or ornamental and flood lighting, comfort air conditioning, car heating, and interior lighting in excess of minimum requirements.

"(b) For industrial use except for an aggregate of 24 hours during the period Monday to Friday inclusive.

"(c) For commercial use except for the four-hour period between 2 p. m. and 6 p. m. of Monday to Saturday inclusive."

The commission order exempted insofar as practicable minimum electricity requirements for public health and safety needs and protection of property such as water pumping, sewage disposal, fire and police protection, hospitals, churches, schools, disseminators of public information, transportation, and establishments required by law to be kept open for specified hours such as banks and trading exchanges.

Coal reserves of the utility companies have steadily dwindled since the nation-wide bituminous coal strike began on April 1.

Britton I. Budd, Public Service president, said his company was doing everything possible to protect and continue the supply of electricity, but without public cooperation, the company's power supply would cease by May 21 unless coal production is resumed by May 14.

It takes about seven days after the miners return to work for coal to reach the electric generating stations from the mines, he explained.

"The company had a 122-day coal supply in October, 1942 but government wartime restrictions on coal deliveries reduced the coal piles to a 50-day supply as of April 1 when the strike began," Budd said.

"It is hoped that the production and delivery of coal will be resumed soon so that normal operations can be restored and public inconvenience be limited to the shortest time possible."

Antioch Industries Will Comply

Heads of manufacturing plants in Antioch were planning production to comply with the regulations when contacted today. Ivan Blake, general manager of Burgess Battery plant, said that plans were being formulated to set up a system whereby electrical power will be used during the first three days of the week and the last two days would be devoted to hand work, which does not require power. He said that no lay-offs on account of the power shortages were contemplated.

John Oftedahl, president of the Frostee Sno plant here, said that owing to the nature of the manufacturing processes at the plant that 24-hour a day production is necessary and that it would be impossible to operate for one 24-hour period each week. The plant will operate Friday in order to complete work in process, and will be closed down entirely until the restriction is lifted.

Pickard, Inc., will probably operate for the 24-hour limit during each week, according to Austin Pickard, president of the company. He said that a study would be made to work out plans for production while the restriction is in effect.

Regal China company, when contacted today, reported that no information as to plans was available, but that the company would comply with the order at once. The "tunnel kiln" which is operated at the plant will not allow part-time production, as it is a continuous proposition and must be in full operation or be closed down entirely.

The Way It Works

A number of communities are furnishing interesting illustrations of the peculiar workings of the public ownership mind when it comes to utilities such as electric power. Inevitably, public ownership is advocated in the interests of the "public welfare." Public ownership, it is claimed, is preferable because it can bring a vital service to the public cheaper than can private ownership. The fact that tax exemption and subsidization of public plants permit the difference, is never mentioned. The campaign becomes a crusade. To those familiar with the show, the whole thing is a farce—until the climax.

In the last act, the politicians change masks and become tax collectors. As tax collectors, they look at the utility business with the calculating eyes of office holders who want to stay in office. Forgotten is the tear-stained issue of the public welfare. The utilities are made into tax collection agencies. Telephone, electric, telegraph, steam and gas bills are subjected to special taxes without a qualm.

Whether or not the city owns the utilities makes little difference except that, as in the case of New York, the municipally-owned plant may have to be bailed out of deficit trouble by levying still other special taxes. The New York mayor has requested authority to double that city's 1 per cent sales tax for four years, the proceeds to be used exclusively for rehabilitation of the transit system and modernization of municipal power plants—private companies must do such work out of earnings, as well as pay taxes.

Public ownership certainly does have its advantages to those who happen to be in control. They can change rates, levy taxes, supply jobs galore for good friends, and no one can effectively protest. No wonder many aspiring politicians like public ownership.

Move The Goods—Now

Suppose you had an article which you wanted to manufacture and sell. To whom would you go for advice? The logical place would be to those who have made a success of selling—the retail distributors. You would find that your distributor friends—if they are representative of the industry—are interested in price and volume. Can the article be produced at a price that will be conducive to high level sales? They would probably talk in terms of tens of thousands of units—how to get that many to consumers.

This is the way the modern mass merchandiser, chain as well as independent, approaches every distribution problem today—including inflation. His business depends on volume—in other words, high production. Inflation is simply a cost-boasting element to be overcome by trimming unnecessary costs and stepping up volume as an alternative to sales-killing high prices. The OPA has called various retailer proposals looking toward the goal of higher production, attempts to "break the line," whereas retailers feel they are suggestions to help the OPA solve its cost-price problem in a manner that will move the goods.

Dr. Paul H. Nystrom, marketing professor of Columbia University, and chairman of the Central Council of National Retail Associations, states that retailers want four changes in price control legislation. Speaking for his group, he urged: That any and all controls that stand in the way of legitimate production be promptly eliminated, including the maximum average price program; that producers be granted a price sufficient to enable them to manufacture prewar quality goods at current costs with an opportunity for profit; that OPA be required to adopt realistic incentive pricing programs; that the theory that all increases needed to produce and distribute goods at current cost, can be absorbed, be discarded.

Their background of experience eminently qualifies the nation's retailers as important spokesmen in getting the biggest manufacturing and distributing job that has ever faced this country, underway before the pressure of consumer demand breaks all bounds.

Country Press and Inflation

The Industrial News Review recently sent a questionnaire to the editors of the country weekly, smaller city daily, and suburban and neighborhood papers in larger cities throughout the 48 states, asking their opinion on the following statements, and inviting comment:

1. I do not believe we can continue or expand present government economic controls and retain personal freedom and our representative form of government.
2. I believe we can continue or even expand present government economic controls and retain our personal freedom and representative form of government.
3. I would rather risk inflation and hardship than submit to rigid government dictation over myself and family.
4. I would rather submit to rigid government dictation over myself and family than risk inflation and hardship.

Out of the first 500 replies, approximately 90 per cent marked items one and three. Nearly all the editors answering made highly illuminating remarks as to why they preferred to risk inflation rather than submit to government dictation. In general, their opinions can be summed up by the statement of Editor Welty, Bartlesville, Okla., Examiner-Enterprise. He said:

"There can be no half-way measures. Either we shall go farther down the road to state socialism or turn back. The natural forces of nature, of supply and demand and all the other homely two-and-two-make-four fundamentals must return or else we shall simply consume ourselves with regimentation, failure, and finally collapse. We must work as individuals, save as individuals and recognize our personal responsibilities as individuals or else become mere monkeys on the end of a Christmas toy."

A very small percentage of the replies which thought that controls might be maintained for a limited period to prevent greater inflation, are illustrated by Editor Rossman of the San Francisco, California, Labor Herald, who said in part:

"Controls of the right sort can curb inflation and hardship without 'rigid government dictation' over the individual, as such. It is precisely inflation and resultant depression which could undermine American representative democracy and set this nation on the road traveled by Germany and Italy, not wise and effective government controls."

The 90 per cent of the editors who favored taking their chances with inflation rather than dictatorial controls, largely based their decisions on the belief that continued bureaucratic controls were not a guarantee against inflation, whereas they were almost a sure guarantee of making the people dependent on government, and destroying private enterprise and individual opportunity as we have known it in the United States.

Sometimes the present makes up for the past—if it's expensive enough.

Dorothy Wellman, John W. Horan Exchange Vows

The Rev. A. D. McKay heard the nuptial vows of Miss Dorothy Wellman and John W. Horan in ceremonies at St. Ignatius' church, April 27. The bride, daughter of Mrs. Anna Wellman, Orchard Street, was given in marriage by her brother, Clarence Wellman. Her bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Horan, 407 Orchard.

Attending the couple were Mr. and Mrs. Jack Effinger and matron of honor, Elaine Zanderzee, of Silver Lake and Raymond Horan, brother of the groom acted as best man.

The bride wore a gown of white satin with the long veil, her flowers were snapdragons and white roses. The pearl beads she wore were a gift from the groom.

The wedding reception and dance for 100 guests was held at the Guild Hall following the ceremony.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Horan are graduates of Antioch Township High school. Mr. Horan was recently discharged from the U. S. Army after serving for the past three years in the Air Corps.

They left on a honeymoon trip to Oregon where they will visit with relatives of the bride. They expect to make their home in Antioch.

May Combine Wages When Filing Claim For Jobless Pay

Illinois is one of 43 states, along with Hawaii and Alaska, which have agreed to a plan whereby the "wage credits" of a multi-state worker may be combined for the purpose of establishing his eligibility for unemployment compensation. State Director of Labor Robert L. Gordon announced today.

"The plan," Director Gordon explained, "applies to persons who have worked in two or more states but do not have enough wage credits to be eligible for benefits from any one state. It permits such a worker to add together all of his wages for insured work during the base applicable to the state in which he files his claim."

"For example, under the Illinois Unemployment Compensation Act, to qualify for benefits an unemployed worker must have been paid $225 or more for insured work in the year 1945. In filing a Combined Wage Claim in Illinois, therefore, a multi-state worker may combine only the wages he earned during 1945 in the several states in which he worked."

All states except Kentucky, Tennessee, Mississippi, New Jersey, and Oregon now participate in the Combined Wage Credit plan. Besides having wage credits required by the state law under which he files claims, the plan requires that multi-state claimants, like all others, must be able to work, ready and willing to take any suitable work offered, and registered for work with the United States Employment Service.

Library News

(By Marion Rigby, Librarian)

Gene Fowler's grandmother said of him, "He would have been the first to follow the Pied Piper." Although the Pied Piper didn't appear, "A Solo in Tom-Toms" is a biography studied with exciting personalities and wonderful anecdotes.

"Doctor East, Doctor West" is Dr. Hume's story of the founding of the Yale-China medical school. The competition of his surgical skill against sooth sayers and astrologers provide many humorous and dramatic tales.

Ferdinand Reyher's "I Heard Them Sing" is pure Americana of the mid-west variety. This novel tells of Ben Halper, who possessed a barber shop, a baritone voice and a wife who ran away. Ben Halper, loving the small town and the social life of his barber shop stayed to raise his son and grow with the town.

Mr. and Mrs. Clayton O'Haver and children, of Chicago, were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Thie-man.

H. F. Bock and brother, Frank Bock, returned home Friday after spending the past six months in Roseland, Fla.

Mrs. A. McGreal and Mrs. Maude Hurligen attended a banquet and meeting of the Daughters of Isabella held at the Eagles Club House in Kenosha, Wednesday evening.

Success in Working Himself Into Jailhouse

VINCENNES, IND.—It was a tough job but Charles Graham, 60, a farm worker, finally managed to work himself into the jailhouse here.

He was polite about it at first, merely asking police: "Please put me in jail. I'm sick and there isn't anyone to care for me."

When Police Capt. Harry Parmenter turned him down because there were no charges against him, he left and returned a half-hour later with a 10-ounce bottle of perfume. He explained:

"I just stole it. Now I can go to jail." Among Graham's possessions which were deposited with the turnkey was a bank slip showing he had deposits of $1,005.

Industry in Russia Is Showing Some Progress

MOSCOW.—The government newspaper Izvestia has cited figures to show an increase in Soviet industry for 1944 as compared with 1943.

The newspaper said electrical output increased 21 per cent, coal production 21 per cent, pig iron 31 per cent, steel 29 per cent and rolled iron 28 per cent.

No figures were listed for these categories for last year. A statement said the automobile output for 1944 would be double that of 1945.

Corn Storage

Cleanliness of husking is of the utmost importance in storing corn of high moisture content, because the husks and silks seriously reduce air movement through the crib.

Peaberry Coffee

Peaberry coffee is not a blend as you might think. The word peaberry refers to the single, completely rounded bean occasionally found inside the fruit instead of the usual two beans.

Tell him, too, that:

the best way to make certain his equipment will be clean is to have plenty of hot water on hand in the milkhouse—the kind that comes from an Electric Dairy Water Heater. Then all he'll have to do is turn the tap and there it is—gallons and gallons of clean, piping hot water that will cut grease and chase dirt in a flash.

You might add that Electric Dairy Water Heaters are now available in limited quantities . . . that the sooner he gets one, the quicker he'll have more marketable milk:

Electricity for Water Heating and other farm chores is available to more than 91% of all the farms in the area served by this Company!
